THE KINGDOM OF FIFE

THE KINGDOM OF FIFE AT A GLANCE

Visit the Kingdom of Fife and discover an exciting variety of family attractions, outdoor pursuits and a rich history based on Royal Burghs, palaces and castles. Marvel at the breathtaking views around every corner from the rolling hills of the countryside to the pretty fishing villages and historic towns along the coast.

Dunfermline and West Fife

The soaring vault of Dunfermline Abbey is a fitting resting place for the bones of King Robert the Bruce. The abbey was founded in 1072 and it’s impossible not to admire its stunning Romanesque architecture. How did the son of a poor handloom weaver become the most generous philanthropist? Then visit the Dunfermline Carnegie Birthplace Museum in Dunfermline, the region’s beautiful eastern corner. Head on over to the award-winning Scottish Fisheries Museum in Anstruther, then explore the charming local galleries in Pittenweem. Or while away a day in Crail, with its ancient parish church, fascinating shops and Crail Pottery, where you can pick up beautiful handmade ceramics. You now have top secret security clearance to descend into Scotland’s Secret Bunker, the 24,000 sq ft command centre where Scotland would have been governed in the event of nuclear war. It was Scotland’s best-kept secret for over 40 years, and lies hidden 150 m beneath the ground.

Kirkcaldy and Mid-Fife

For a lively programme of theatre, dance and music, head to the Adam Smith Theatre in Kirkcaldy. Kirkhorn packs a lot of fun into a small package – here you can stroll along two lovely sandy beaches, tee off on a challenging 18-hole golf course and enjoy coarse fishing and canoeing on a pretty loch. On a green slope overlooking Kinghorn Loch you’ll find the UK’s first Earthship, a solar-powered educational and research centre made entirely from natural and recycled materials. Pop into the Harbourmaster’s House in Dysart before you start your journey along the Fife Coastal Path. Here you can learn all about the path, as well as the history of Dysart as a key Scottish port, and enjoy a bite to eat in the bistro. Fancy an action-packed family day out? Then visit Lochore Meadows Country Park, near Lochgelly. Pack a tasty picnic and go for a wander around the stunning loch or take a bike ride along the park’s network of woodland trails.

Levenmouth

If you’re a golfer you’ll appreciate the quality of Lundin Links Golf Course, an Open Championship Final Qualifying course. See how many species you can spot on the nature trails in Leven at Letham Glen and Silverburn Park. Stop for a bite to eat at the Cottage Window Café, and you can even stay the night in the park’s newly opened campsite.

East Neuk

They dot the coast like pearls on a chain – the fishing villages of Crail, Anstruther, Pittenweem, St Monans and Elie are just a few of the gems waiting for you to discover them. They lie in the famous East Neuk of Fife, the region’s beautiful eastern corner. Meet ancestors of today’s Fifers at the Fife Folk Museum in the village of Ceres and discover collections of agricultural tools, pottery, paintings, toys and much more. Enjoy a coffee in the Weigh House Tearoom. Imagine life as the owner of Hill of Tarvit Mansionhouse & Gardens, one of Scotland’s finest Edwardian mansion houses. Its splendid collection of antiques, furniture, Chinese porcelain and superb paintings would be all yours...

St Andrews

The town of St Andrews is home to the sport of golf, and to Scotland’s oldest university. Tucked away on the outskirts of town is the beautiful St Andrews Botanic Garden. Don’t forget to explore the nearby castle, cathedral and the family-friendly gem, Craigtoun Country Park. 2020 will see the reopening of the extended Wardlaw Museum at the university.

North Fife, Cupar and the Howe of Fife

Wind back the clock in the medieval burgh of Cupar. This is a town steeped in history and set amongst a patchwork of fields, rolling hills, woodlands and farming communities. Meet ancestors of today’s Fifers at the Fife Folk Museum in the village of Ceres and discover collections of agricultural tools, pottery, paintings, toys and much more. Enjoy a coffee in the Weigh House Tearoom. Imagine life as the owner of Hill of Tarvit Mansionhouse & Gardens, one of Scotland’s finest Edwardian mansion houses. Its splendid collection of antiques, furniture, Chinese porcelain and superb paintings would be all yours...

Don’t Miss...

- Step back in time as you pace the cobbled streets of the Royal Burgh of Culross. You can see history writ large in one of the town’s elegant, ancient buildings and stunning palace.
- Hop on a boat trip to the Isle of May and visit the hundreds of puffins which nest there in the summer months.
- Kids will love the brilliant St Andrews Aquarium where you can press your nose to the glass and get close to fascinating species such as sharks, seahorses, piranhas and seals. You can also meet meerkats and marmosets!
Your everyday cares are about to dissolve... There's nothing quite as uplifting to the spirit as a day out amid rolling hills, green forests and golden beaches – and you can find them all here in the Kingdom of Fife. You'll never run out of ways to enjoy this natural playground with walking trails, cycling routes and a magnificent coastal path, which runs for miles around the sparkling coastline.

Pack a picnic and spend an afternoon in one of Fife’s beautiful parks, such as Pittencrieff Park in Dunfermline, Victorian Beveridge Park in Kirkcaldy or Craigton Country Park near St Andrews. Let the sea breeze ruffle your hair on a scenic walk along the Fife Coastal Path. You can cruise the coastline for 117 miles from Kincardine to Newburgh with sandy beaches, attractive fishing villages and curious wildlife for you to discover.

Dig out your crabbing net or a bucket and spade and head to one of Fife’s stunning beaches for the day. Wander along miles of golden sands at Elie Ruby Bay, Kingdom Pettycur Bay and at West Beach in St Andrews, where you can book free beach wheelchair rentals. Saddle up and pedal out on more than 300 miles of cycle paths from coast to countryside on the Fife Cycleways – a great way to explore the region. Or try out the Fife Cycle Park, an outdoor traffic free cycling facility, between Lochgelly and Lochore, and the first of its kind in Scotland!

Here’s an idea for a mini-adventure – take a boat trip in the summer months from Anstruther out to the Isle of May. This fascinating island was previously used by monks, Vikings and smugglers and is home to one of the oldest lighthouses in Scotland. It’s also home to colonies of puffins and seals.

Roam the lovely trails in the Lomond Hills Regional Park and discover geological marvels such as the bizarrely shaped Bunnet Stane and Carlin Maggie’s Stane. The East and West Lomond Hills are the highest points in Fife and you’ll find you can’t help gazing for ages at the wonderful panoramic views. Stroll through the nearby Falkland Estate, and visit the Pillars of Hercules cafe for some delicious organic food.

A paradise for animals and humans alike – that’s Tentsmuir National Nature Reserve, near Leuchars. Look out for seals on the long sandy beaches. Pause and smell the fragrant aroma of the beautiful sunken rose garden at Hill of Tarvit Mansionhouse & Garden. Then go squirrel spotting in the woodland or climb the hill to enjoy fantastic views.

Get your heart pumping with an action-packed day down at the beach. Adventure company Blown Away, in St Andrews offer all kinds of beach activities, from land yachting and stand up paddle boarding to kayaking and riding the waves in a high speed Zapcat.

FIND OUT MORE

Remember your binoculars on a walk around the charming Kinghorn Loch – there is lots of wildlife to spot.

Take a short walk up Binn Hill in Burstrail for stunning panoramic coastal views across the Firth of Forth to Edinburgh & The Lothians.

See how many species of migrating birds you can spot at the Fife Ness Muir Wildlife Reserve, by Crail.

At Falkland Estate, follow the Maspie Den paths through the forest to the Yad waterfall and the Tyndall Bruce Monument, which offers glorious views of the Fife countryside and beyond. If you want to explore further, try venturing into the Lomond Hills Regional Park for more amazing views.
It’s thanks to St Andrews that the game as we know it exists today, and it’s here that you’ll find the jewel in the crown and spiritual home of the game, the Old Course. Famed worldwide, the Old Course is confirmed in the Guinness Book of World Records as the oldest golf course in the world. It hosts The Open Championship every five years which will be back in St Andrews to celebrate the 150th Open in 2021. You can play on this legendary course yourself, but you must book in advance.

Enthusiastic novice? Seasoned professional? Or a happy hacker? Whatever your talents, you’ll be in golf heaven in Fife. You could tee off on a different course every Saturday for a year, from dangerously difficult links to charming inland courses.

The Old and New courses in St Andrews that we see today were created by ‘Old’ Tom Morris who is celebrated for his pioneering work in course architecture. He was also a fantastic golfer, setting the Open record as the oldest champion, at the age of 46, in 1867. Children and adults can have plenty of fun tackling the humps and bumps of the Himalayas putting course, located next to the second tee of the Old Course.

Here’s a hidden gem of a golf course – the old Balcomie Links by Crail. Set in a rugged corner of the coast, the course was laid out by ‘Old’ Tom Morris. Test your skills over the rocky bays and on the long par 3s with greens perched right on top of the vertical cliffs. The par 4 fifth hole is one of the most challenging, and is appropriately named, Hell’s Hole.

For a modern links challenge, try Kingsbarns Golf Links, often voted one of the world’s top 100 courses. For more ideas and themed golf trails, go to www.visittifegolf.com.

Do you love a good yarn? History drips from the very stones of our buildings and you can hear the stories of ancestors wherever you go. Explore the many castles, palaces and museums scattered throughout the region and uncover the remarkable history of this unique corner of Scotland.

Its nave is now grassy and open to the elements, but it’s easy to imagine St Andrews Cathedral in all its pomp as Scotland’s largest and most magnificent church. Climb the 33 m high St Rule’s Tower, built around 1130, for sweeping views of the town and coastline.

While you’re in St Andrews make sure you visit the castle. It was once the official residence of Scotland’s leading bishop and has a very scary bottle dungeon. Explore the extended Wardlaw Museum at the University of St Andrews, with new exhibition spaces.

Duck your head and step inside the 18th century Harbourmaster’s House at Dysart, for a hands-on history lesson in the business arts of salt and coal trading. Explore the Dunfermline Carnegie Library & Galleries, with a museum, gallery spaces, cafe shop and reading rooms – all adjoining the world’s first Carnegie Library. Learn more about the town’s ancient history and heritage through impressive exhibitions and displays.

Fishing has been the lifeblood of the East Neuk for generations and you can learn more about how it shaped the local people’s lives at the Scottish Fisheries Museum in Anstruther.

Need a moment of sanctuary in this busy world? Find it in the magnificent Dunfermline Abbey, the final resting place of many Scottish kings and queens. The legendary Robert the Bruce is one of the royals sleeping here – minus his heart, which is buried in Melrose Abbey in the Scottish Borders. The nearby Abbot House is also an important site in the town’s Heritage Quarter, and is due to reopen in 2020.

Take time to explore the abbey complex including the ruins of a palace built by King James VI in the 16th century that became a home for his queen, Anne of Denmark. Make a mini-pilgrimage of your own down the 87 steps to St Margaret’s Cave, Dunfermline, where the canonised Queen Margaret of Scotland would go to pray over 900 years ago. Or walk the Fife Pilgrim Way and become a modern day pilgrim by following the ancient pathways and visiting medieval sites along the route.

Tour companies Discover Dunfermline Tours and Forth Pilgrim will happily share their knowledge of Fife’s key pilgrimage sites and Fife’s significant place in Scottish history.

Tucked into the Lomond foothills and set in the heart of a medieval village you’ll find the royal Falkland Palace and Garden. This gem was used as a hunting lodge for several Scottish monarchs including Mary Queen of Scots. Today you can enjoy its French-influenced Renaissance architecture, beautifully reconstructed rooms, peaceful palace gardens and the world’s oldest real tennis court, which was built in 1539!

See Falkland Palace and other amazing historic sites across the Kingdom come to life with ‘In the Footsteps of Kings’. This free augmented reality mobile app lets you experience the area’s rich history in a new way with fun activities tailored to each location, with many to discover across the region. Join Jess the Jester on a fun journey through Fife on your next visit. Find out more at www.welcometofife.com/jess

Step back in time to the 16th and 17th centuries as you stroll around the beautiful Royal Burgh of Culross, not far from Dunfermline. Walk along pretty cobbled streets in this historic village and admire the beautiful ochre-coloured Culross Palace.

Kellie Castle and Garden is beautiful inside and out – you can see fabulous paintings and tapestries then stroll round the glorious gardens. Here’s a fantastic fact – the 5th Earl of Kellie hid in a burnt-out tree stump in the grounds of the castle for an entire summer following the Battle of Culloden in 1746!

St Monans Windmill is a living reminder of Fife’s former booming salt industry. This late 18th-century salt mill was used to pump sea water into special evaporation pans before they were heated.

Reputedly no stone castle in Scotland has been standing longer than Aberdour Castle. Explore its ancient corridors and stretch your legs with a walk round its beautiful walled garden and grounds.

See for yourself why saints sought out the peace of St Fillan’s Cave in Pitlenweem as a haven. The cave gave Pitlenweem its name, ‘pit’ being the Pictish word for ‘place’ and ‘weem’ meaning ‘cave’.

The first ever mention of Scotch whisky was at Lindores Abbey, Newburgh in 1494. Visit Lindores Abbey Distillery and learn all about the processes and history of whisky making on a distillery or apothecary tour.

For a hands-on experience of Scotland, take a trip on the ‘St Andrews 360’ open-top bus and enjoy panoramic views over St Andrews and the Firth of Forth.

Ready to play? Well, Fife is a truly exceptional outdoor playground, and it’s ready and waiting for you to spring into action. Fife is heaven for golfers, but the great game is by no means the only sport available in this action-packed part of Scotland.

A quick look at the map will show you Fife has miles and miles of beautiful coastline, making it an ideal destination for sailing. Set sail from attractive coastal towns such as Anstruther, Newburgh, Kinghorn, Tayport and Wormit and you can choose between weekday, weekend, group and individual sessions.

The Firth of Forth has been one of Scotland’s most important shipping areas for centuries and this has left some fascinating wreck dive sites. You can choose from many providers that offer training and guided dives such as the Divebunker based at Burntisland.

Leave the everyday world far behind and explore Fife on foot along 117 miles of the Fife Coastal Path. The path stretches from the Forth estuary in the south to the Tay estuary in the north and will guide you past picturesque fishing towns and villages, award-winning beaches, unexpected wildlife and some absolutely stunning views.

Take a journey through history on the Fife Pilgrim Way, an exciting long distance route which winds through the ancient Kingdom. Follow in the footsteps of pilgrims who would have flocked to medieval Scotland and discover important historical sites along the way.

Head to Cluny Activities near Kirkcaldy for a range of family-friendly activities that everyone can get involved in, including shooting sports, golf, footgolf and a children’s indoor and outdoor play area. There is also a clubhouse with a delicious menu of homebaking.

In the sandy curve of Elie Bay, you’ll find Elie Watersports whose helpful instructors can have you whizzing over the waves on waterskis or a wakeboard.

Bring your bike or simply hire one here and enjoy the Kingdom of Fife Cycle Ways, a network of over 300 miles (483 km) of cycle routes on sleepy old railway paths, forest tracks and quiet country lanes. Head to Pitmedden Forest, near Auchtermuchty, where you’ll find miles of track that weave between trees and down slopes, with options for both experienced mountain bikers and beginners.

Grab your kit and head to Townhill Country Park, north of Dunfermline for a game of tennis, cricket, football or even croquet. This tranquil country park is also home to Waterski & Wakeboard Scotland, a custom-built site. With world-class boats and state-of-the-art facilities, beginners and experts alike will have a brilliant time here.

Expect rosy cheeks and smiles on a family day out at Lochore Meadows Country Park. You can throw yourself into a wide range of activities, from orienteering and hillwalking to mountain biking and kayaking, at the Outdoor Recreation Centre or take a refreshing stroll or bike ride through tranquil woodland trails, many of which are wheelchair and mobility scooter accessible.

Why not try a spot of horse riding? You’ll find riding centres at Cupar and Dunfermline.

Take your family for a walk or cycle through the pine forest trails in Tentsmuir Forest, then idle the afternoon away building sandcastles on the beach.

Don’t miss...

- An exhilarating afternoon at Knockhill Racing Circuit, the home of Scottish motorsport. Take a ride around the circuit yourself or enjoy weekend events.
- Take the wheel of a 4x4 at the Scottish Off Road Driving Centre near Auchtermuchty.
- Get on target for a great day out at the Scottish Clay Shooting Centre near St Andrews.
- Fancy yourself as the next Lewis Hamilton? Try your driving hand at indoor karting at Kartstart in Kirkcaldy.

OUTDOOR ADVENTURES

The Bunnet Stane, near Gateside

No visit to Fife is complete without exploring its charming coastal towns and villages, from Culross to the East Neuk. Fife's coast is home to unique attractions like the Scottish Fisheries Museum and North Queensferry Harbour Light Tower – the world's smallest working light tower which you can light yourself!

Discover scenic spots like Lady's Tower near Elie and St Monan's Windmill, as well as stunning beaches, including three Blue Flag beaches in Aberdour, Burntisland and Elie. Go cycling along the esplanade at Kirkcaldy's waterfront or visit Dysart Harbour, which starred in season 2 of Outlander.

Take in dramatic cliffs, miles of sandy beaches and picturesque fishing villages along the Fife Coastal Path. This long-distance walking route takes in brilliant spots such as Aberdour Castle, Balmerino Abbey and Tentsmuir Forest. Pick a section to explore or try the full 117-mile route for an unrivalled walking experience.

There's plenty of opportunities to get on the water as well. Go sailing, paddle sports and open water swimming in Loch Ore, while the surrounding 260 acres which make up Lochore Meadows Country Park are the perfect spot for walking and cycling. Try kayaking around the north Fife coast with Outdoor Explore or go open canoeing with East Neuk Outdoors.

There are awesome adventures with a difference to try too. Experience land yachting in St Andrews with Blown Away Experiences, or for an even more white-knuckle ride, try their high-powered racing boats, Zapcats. St Andrews' beaches are accessible to everyone too – try the West Beach wheelchairs, which can be rented for free.

The River Forth runs along the Fife coast, and three famous bridges connect the region to its neighbours. Visit the Forth Bridge, one of the most iconic images of Scotland, which celebrates its 130th anniversary in 2020. You can also take a trip out on the water with Forth Sea Safaris, based in North Queensferry.

Visit the Isle of May, a quick boat ride from Anstruther, where you can explore the island, which is a National Nature Reserve. In the summer months the island is filled with nesting puffins or try to spot the resident seals around its coastline! You can get up close and personal with a host of sea life and other creatures at the St Andrews Aquarium or at Deep Sea World. Home to the largest transparent tunnel in Europe, it's easy to spot the resident sharks – you can even go diving with them!

They say whisky is the water of life, and there are plenty of opportunities to enjoy a dram in Fife. Visit Kingsbarns Distillery and discover their single malt on three different types of distillery tour. Nearby, Eden Mill in St Andrews produces a selection of gins and beers you can try alongside their whisky. Lindores Abbey Distillery, which sits opposite the now ruined abbey of the same name, opened in 2017.

Coasts and waters have shaped Fife’s history and this influence is still seen today, from the rainwater which makes local whisky to the abundance of wildlife around the coast and rivers. There is also plenty of fun to be had, including lots of watersports or relaxing coastal walks along the Fife Coastal Path.

YEAR OF COASTS AND WATERS 2020
From golf championships and Highland games to arts, food and poetry festivals, Fife has enough going on to keep you entertained every night of the year. Whatever time of year you visit you can enjoy events, exhibitions, festivals and unusual happenings.

Calling all culture vultures – get ready to feast on theatre, dance, film and music at the Byre Theatre in St Andrews, the Adam Smith Theatre in Kirkcaldy, and the Alhambra Theatre or Carnegie Hall, both in Dunfermline.

You can find information on the latest events in theatres and venues across Fife at www.onfife.com

Put a spring in your step at the snowdrop wonderland at Cambo Gardens. Celebrate this year’s Snowdrop Festival from January to mid-March, and walk through flower-filled woodlands to the sea.

In October celebrate Scottish photography and pick up some tips at the St Andrews Photography Festival.

Don’t miss a major exhibition by a world-famous Fife artist in September at the Kirkcaldy Galleries. Jack Vettriano: The Early Years sees early paintings by Vettriano, including works painted under his birth name, shown together in public for the first time in his home town.

What better way to celebrate Scotland’s patron saint than in his namesake town. St Andrews will be buzzing with events and celebrations at the end of November, including Scotland’s largest outdoor ceilidh, a torch-lit parade to the harbour and lots of foot-tapping live music from musicians and pipers.

There are so many events to discover in the area.
By road
The A92 road runs diagonally through the region forming a useful ‘spine’ that you can use to access many sights and attractions. There are also many well-signposted scenic routes linking the smaller towns and villages.

Fife has around 300 miles of on and off-road cycle routes – bring your own or hire a bike in one of the towns.

Choose the slower pace of the Fife Coastal Route and take time to discover even more on your travels – www.visitscotland.com/touristroutes

In September 2017, Britain’s tallest bridge, the new Queensferry Crossing opened over the Firth of Forth, the third bridge to link Fife to Edinburgh.

By bus
Hop on the express coach services that link Anstruther, Dunfermline, Kirkcaldy, Leven, Glenrothes, Cupar and St Andrews. You can then use the comprehensive local bus networks in each town.

By rail
Fife Circle trains stop at numerous towns and villages in south west Fife and there are also regular trains which run between Edinburgh and Dundee through the region. You can catch the frequent bus service from Leuchars to St Andrews town centre. For more information visit www.nationalrail.co.uk

The May Princess sails from Anstruther to the beautiful Isle of May almost every day from April to September. The island is home to an incredible array of wildlife including puffins, guillemots, razorbills, shags, seals, porpoise, dolphins and the odd whale - you just have to be lucky! It can also lay claim to having Scotland’s oldest Bird Observatory, the remains of a 12th century monastery and the oldest light house in Scotland dating back to 1636.

The trip lasts around 4.5 to 5 hours, with 2.5 to 3 hours ashore and a slow trip around the island to allow visitors to enjoy the spectacular scenery and wonderful wildlife from the sea. Enjoy the commentary and assistance from our experienced Skipper and crew, who will do their best to make your day out a most memorable one.
