Welcome to…
THE OUTER HEBRIDES
FÀILTE GU NA H-EILEANAN AN IAR

Welcome to the edge of the world. Just getting to the Outer Hebrides is an adventure. This idyllic island chain sits in the wild blue Atlantic Ocean 30 miles off the west coast of Scotland. Here you can wander along pristine beaches and remote mountain paths in one of Britain’s last remaining wildernesses. Among the breathtaking scenery and amazing wildlife, you’ll find friendly towns and villages with a rich and vibrant culture.

This is a land steeped in ancient history, where you can touch 4,000-year-old standing stones and visit abandoned islands. Listen to the calls of thousands of visiting birds, smell the peat smoke in a traditional blackhouse and taste the rare flavours of an island whisky. Come and see why Scotland’s Highlands & Islands have been named a top region in Lonely Planet’s Best in Travel 2019.

Lewis
Lewis is the northern section of the single island known as Lewis and Harris – the largest island in Scotland. Here you can travel over atmospheric moorland dotted with sparkling freshwater lochans, to an epic coastline of steep cliffs and spellbinding beaches. Visit the magnificent Calanais Standing Stones and explore Stornoway, the island’s charming main settlement and the largest town in the Outer Hebrides.

Harris
North Harris is a crumpled land of imposing hills and peaks, formed from some of the oldest rocks on the planet – 3 billion years old and counting. On the west coast you can paddle on some of the most spectacular beaches of Britain – they really do rival those of the Caribbean and Thailand. Look out for seals at Loch Flodabay or tee up for golf at Scarista on the edge of the Atlantic.

St Kilda
The majestic islands of St Kilda are one of the most special places on the planet. You will be awed by the highest sea cliffs in the UK (1,410 ft) and deafened by the cacophony of seabirds. The islands lie 40 miles out in the Atlantic west of North Uist and life here was tough – the inhabitants abandoned their homes forever in 1930.

Which island will you visit first? There are 15 inhabited islands, all with their own unique character, and hundreds of uninhabited isles and skerries. Each is a treasure trove of adventure and discovery. You could step back in time at one of Barra’s 83 archaeological sites, explore the mountain peaks of Harris or go birdwatching on North Uist.
North Uist
Peace is here in abundance amid the island’s long stretches of sand, peat bogs and countless small fresh lochs. Visit the RSPB Balranald Nature Reserve to search for the elusive corncrake and see the island’s most notable historical sites including the 18 ft high chambered cairn, Barpa Langass.

Benbecula
This flat island has beautiful west coast beaches backed by lush machair, the low-lying fertile plain typical of the Outer Hebrides. Visit the 14th century castle ruin at Borve and the Museum nan Eilean in Sgoil Lionacleit.

South Uist
Enjoy more than 20 miles of brilliant white sand beaches, play Askernish’s ‘lost golf course’ created by ‘Old’ Tom Morris or visit the vast Loch Druidibeg Nature Reserve, which supports a large colony of greylag geese and hundreds of different plant species.

Barra
You won’t visit a more dramatically sited stronghold than medieval Kisimul Castle in Castlebay. Its mighty walls rise sheer from a rocky islet in the bay. Enjoy the remarkable scenery of one of the beaches such as Tangasdale, or cycle or walk around this small but beautiful island.

HIGHLIGHTS
- Surf, snorkel or explore the coast around Barra from a kayak and you might see seals, dolphins and basking sharks. Contact Barra Surf and Coastal Adventures.
- Learn how traditional peat-smoked salmon is prepared before sampling it yourself at Hebridean Smokehouse on North Uist.
- Sample the sugar-kelp infused Isle of Harris Gin, produced from the island’s first legal distillery.
- Dress like a native in the world-famous Harris Tweed and Knitwear.

DON’T MISS...
- Tasting the exquisite local shellfish throughout the Outer Hebrides such as lobsters, scallops, crabs, mussels and oysters.
- Savouring a dram of single malt whisky from the Abhainn Dearg Distillery in Uig, the most westerly distillery in Scotland.
- Museum nan Eilean at Lews Castle, Stornoway offers an interactive explanation of the history and culture of the Outer Hebrides alongside a stunning exhibition of unique objects dating from prehistory to the present day.
- A walk along a secluded white sandy beach on the Isle of Berneray, where the only noise is the sound of the waves and the birds overhead.

DID YOU KNOW?
At the height of summer, the Outer Hebrides enjoy 22 hours of daylight.
Our ancestors first roamed over the beautiful Outer Hebrides 9,000 years ago. It wasn’t long before they were making their mark on the landscape, and when you come here you’ll feel history is a living, breathing part of life. You can see it in the historical attractions and prehistoric relics, and hear it in the language and stories of the people.

The whole of Lewis is one giant treasure trove, so rich is the island with archaeological gems left behind by its ancient inhabitants. When you reach out to touch the Calanais Standing Stones your fingers are pressing on a monument that was built before the Pyramids of Giza. Find out just how our ambitious ancestors erected the stones and how they used them in the visitor centre.

You’ll notice there are very few trees on Lewis and Harris – so the inhabitants burn peat for fuel, rather than firewood. You can see – and smell! – exactly what this was like at a traditional Hebridean blackhouse at Arnol.

Museum nan Eilean is an exciting museum and public archive in the leafy grounds of Lews Castle, Stornoway. Six of the iconic Lewis Chessmen, uncovered in Uig on the west coast of Lewis in the 19th century, have been returned to the island and the new museum on permanent display.

Take the journey of a lifetime and sail to the astonishing archipelago of St Kilda, one of the most remote parts of the British Isles. Learn about the hardy people who once lived in the village, now abandoned and part of a dual UNESCO World Heritage Site.

Learn about the culture, history and language of Barra at the island’s heritage centre. Find out about the islanders’ changing lifestyles, from maritime and crofting to home life and leisure.

Walk in the footsteps of a prince on a visit to the Isle of Eriskay. During the time of the Jacobite Risings, Bonnie Prince Charlie landed on this small island from France and later hid in the Outer Hebrides to avoid capture by government troops following defeat at Culloden.

What better place to learn about your Hebridean roots and Scottish clan culture than the Outer Hebrides themselves? Head to the Seallam! Visitor Centre in Northton on Harris and tap into their extensive archives.
HIGHLIGHTS

- It’s a short but spectacular boat trip to Kisimul Castle, Barra, perched on a rocky island in Castlebay.
- Step back in time at Bosta Iron Age House, Bosta, Great Bernera, Isle of Lewis. This reconstructed dwelling was inspired by the remains of real Iron Age houses exposed after a storm.
- Get a glimpse of island life in a restored traditional crofting township at Gearrannan Blackhouse Village, Lewis.

DID YOU KNOW?
The 900-year-old Lewis Chessmen were carved from walrus ivory.

DON’T MISS...

- It’s hard to imagine a more beautiful setting for a stone circle than that of Pobull Fhinn, on North Uist.
- Pay your respects to Alasdair Crotach, chief of Clan MacLeod at his magnificent medieval tomb in St Clement’s Church on Harris.
- Why is the Clanranald Stone so mysterious? Come to the Kildonan Museum on South Uist and find out.
- A trip to the most southerly island of Vatersay with a walk to the disused village of Eorasdail which was established by fishermen from Mingulay, and was abandoned in the early 1970’s.
Even birds love holidaying in the Outer Hebrides. We see more than our fair share of feathered visitors, including rare corncrakes. And plenty of beautiful birds, such as white-tailed eagles, live here all year round. Our archipelago is also full of fascinating flora and marine life and you can visit three National Nature Reserves (NNRs) here.

From the cliffs at the Butt of Lewis you can admire the acrobatics of fulmars, kittiwakes and shags as they drop from their perches on the hunt for a meal.

Ever seen a basking shark break the surface of the sea? It’s quite an experience. Take a boat trip and you might also see bottlenose dolphins, grey seals and even orcas and humpback whales.

The isles of North Rona and Sula Sgeir are so remote (they lie 44 miles north of Lewis) that they make a rare prize for island-baggers. They are uninhabited by humans, but attract tens of thousands of breeding seabirds including guillemots, gannets and storm petrels.

The Monach Isles, west of North Uist, have been protected as another NNR. They play host to hundreds of barnacle geese and one of the largest breeding colonies of Atlantic grey seals in the world.

For staggering seabird spectacles, it’s hard to beat St Kilda. Here you can see what one million seabirds look like, including one of the world’s largest gannet colonies and the UK’s largest puffin colony.
This is otter madness. Here in the Outer Hebrides we have more otters per square mile than anywhere else in north west Europe. Watch out for the playful creatures hunting along rocky shorelines.

Luskentyre Sands in the west of Harris is regularly voted one of Britain’s best beaches for good reason – it is absolutely gorgeous. The sands are white gold, the sea is turquoise shelving to deep blue, and behind it all lie the rugged mountains of the north.

Once you’ve admired our beautiful birds and animals, you should also check out the amazing range of flora, some of which is very rare. You can see a thousand types of wild flower in the Outer Hebrides, and at the height of summer the machair is transformed into a colourful carpet of orchids, yellow irises and poppies.

Seeing red deer, one of the most iconic animals, can be a common experience on the isles of Harris and Lewis and on one the wildlife tours on offer here, you may strike lucky and spot the shy otters that live and feed in the sea lochs and waters.

EXPLORE MORE

- Birder? Head to RSPB Balranald Nature Reserve, North Uist to see lapwings, corncrakes, merlins and hen harriers.

- We have our very own eagle observatory and Bird of Prey Trail on Harris, where you stand a good chance of spotting golden and white-tailed eagles.

- Meet the population of hardy Eriskay ponies, a rare breed which originated on the island. The ponies can also be found on South Uist.

DON’T MISS...

- Seals coming ashore to pup in the autumn months at Flodabay, Isle of Harris.

- Hundreds of greylag geese on the Monach Isles or around Loch Druidibeg on South Uist.

- Once you’ve heard the distinctive call of the elusive corncrake, you’ll always remember it.
You wake. You step out of your door and breathe the pure Hebridean morning air. Wherever you are in these islands, a wild natural playground is right on your doorstep. Today you can find thrilling adventure, pure peace and a little bit of everything in between. Walking, cycling, kayaking, surfing or playing golf in stunning surroundings – what will you do first?

Venture on The Hebridean Way, on foot or by bike, through some of the most spectacular landscapes in the UK. This 156-mile walking route and 185-mile cycle network takes in the surrounding rugged hills, wildlife, and heritage of the Outer Hebrides.

Rough or smooth? For kite surfing, power kiting and windsurfing you can choose how thrilling you want it, from the wide open beaches of Uig to the sheltered waters around Vatersay.

Surfers descend on Lewis like bees round a honeypot. Pop your board in the car and head to Dalmore, Dalbeg or Mangersta beach for some of the most consistent surf in Europe thanks to year-round swells.

Clear waters with reefs, pinnacles, wrecks and fantastic marine life – sound like a fun dive?

For a relaxing ramble, walk the Cladh Hallan Roundhouses circular, near Daliburgh on South Uist. For more of a walk on the wild side try the Lewis West Side coastal walk or the Clisham Horseshoe on Harris.
Did you know?
There are 97 named beaches in the Outer Hebrides.

Highlights
- Tee off in dramatic sand dune surroundings at the lovely Askernish Golf Course, South Uist.
- Explore the rugged hills of Harris with like-minded souls at the Isle of Harris Mountain Festival in August.
- Ready for adventure? Contact Scaladale Centre on Harris, who specialise in sailing tours, guided canoe trips and other wild ventures.
- Go snorkelling and free-diving amongst kelp forests and wrecks with Benbecula Freedive in Balinvanich.

Don’t miss...
- Paddle from cove to cove on turquoise waters by kayak on the Uists.
- Abseil the cliffs of the Butt of Lewis amid a whirl of seabirds.
- Wait for the tide to ebb and explore the sea caves and stacks at Garry Beach, Tolsta.
- Always wanted to surf? Learn on the stunning sandy beaches of the Isle of Barra with Barra Surf and Coastal Adventures.

Anglers – there are 2,000 lochs on Lewis and most of them are brimming with fish. And our coastline has many rocky promontories and shelving beaches if you like sea-angling. Try Amhuinnsuidhe Castle Estate on Harris and Stòras Uibhist on South Uist.

Golf doesn’t get more scenic – and affordable – than here. The Isle of Harris Golf Club, Benbecula Golf Club and Askernish Golf Club, Isle of South Uist - are all true gems.

Saddle up and cycle along the whole island chain on the Hebridean Way, which stretches from Barra to the Butt of Lewis. Or why not take it easy and explore the quiet roads for the day?

Have I teleported to Thailand? No, this really is Scotland. Here you can explore hundreds of stunning white sand beaches that are often completely deserted. While away the hours relaxing on Garry on Lewis or Tangasdale on Barra and enjoy the gorgeous scenery these island paradises offer.
Gaelic is the original language of the Outer Hebrides and its many speakers have a rich singing tradition. Hear Gaelic songs and foot-stomping music at some of the great live music festivals, such as the Hebridean Celtic Music Festival (or HebCelt for short) or the Fèisean, local annual festivals celebrating traditional music and culture.

Bring your sketch pad and camera – the natural beauty of the Outer Hebrides will fire your artistic imagination. Or see how the pros do it at the many studios and galleries on these islands.

Art really is part of life here, and we are very proud to welcome you to venues such as An Lanntair on Lewis and Taigh Chearsabhagh on North Uist that display stunning works from local and international artists.

Take your loved ones a piece of handcrafted Celtic jewellery from Hebridean Jewellery on South Uist.

Choose a unique ceramic work from Uist Craft Producers, or pick up some handmade knitwear from Harris Tweed and Knitwear.

Nowhere else on earth makes true Harris Tweed, a luxury cloth handwoven by islanders using local wool. You can see it being handspun in front of you at the Carloway Harris Tweed Mill on Lewis.

The Eriskay Jersey is one of the rarest pieces of craftwork in Scotland. Traditionally, these intricately patterned seamless jerseys were made by island women for their fisherman husbands.

Explore the variety of brilliant adventures that await you in the Outer Hebrides! And what better way to celebrate the Year of Coasts and Waters 2020 than with an exciting programme of events that showcases all the great wonders that the islands has to offer? But why wait when you can be ahead of the game and experience it all this year?

It’s the captivating views, the endless beaches, ancient history, wonderful wildlife and finest fresh food that truly make a visit to the Outer Hebrides extraordinary. The islands boast a hugely diverse coastal scenery, ranging from dramatic cliffs and sea stacks to gleaming white beaches, and a rich offering of inland waters, rivers, loch and waterfalls.

Outdoors adventures

Get out here! Explore the wild landscapes and rugged coastlines of the Outer Hebrides on a walking or cycling adventure, exploring one of Scotland’s newest long-distance trails – the Hebridean Way.

Swim and go snorkelling in a secluded bay, or fish in one of the 2,000 lochs dotted around the islands. Or take to the turquoise waters for a spot of kayaking and you could find yourself sharing the waves with some playful seals.

On the Isle of Uist, you can enjoy guided walks by the coast or horse riding on the beach, or for the more adventurous, rock climbing and coasteering right on the seacliffs.

Island hopping

Grab your bucket and spade and explore the Outer Hebrides’ dramatic coastline, islands and seaside spots. West Beach on Berneray is a stunning part of the region, and with white sands and clear blue waters, it can pass as a tropical paradise on a good day.

Take a boat trip to the renowned World Heritage archipelago of St Kilda, only 40 miles westwards. The islands seem lost in another age on the very edge of Europe, with a fascinating deserted village and large colonies of seabirds.

Sail to one of the many remote uninhabited islands of the Outer Hebrides, full of dramatic mystery and beauty, from Taransay, which was featured in the reality TV show Castaway to the Shiants, which inspired Adam Nicolson to write the amazing book Sea Room.
Go wild
Take a boat trip on the west coast of Lewis and watch out for whales, dolphins and soaring seabirds while hearing stories of vanished lighthouse keepers on the Flannan Isles.

Visit RSPB Balranald Nature Reserve on North Uist to hear the distinctive rasping call of the rare British corncrake. Watch out for porpoises, orcas and minke whales, basking sharks and dolphins teeming in the waters all around.

In the azure blue surface water, you could be treated to a dazzling light show as the sun reflects off shoals of herring.

For a wildlife experience with a difference, head to South Uist to seek out the island’s resident wild ponies. They can usually be seen on the road to Loch Skipport and around nearby Loch Druidibeg.

From sea to plate
The islands are bursting with distinctive local flavours. As you’d expect, we have an abundance of delicious seafood, straight from the harbours of Stornoway (Lewis), Kallin (North Uist) and Castlebay (Barra), and available in our many excellent eateries. Tuck into sublime salmon, monkfish, hand-dived scallops and langoustines from our pristine waters. Try some award-winning ales from Stornoway’s Hebridean Brewery and delicious Hebridean toffee from Barra. And look out for the new Isle of Harris Distillery in Tarbert. Although their single malt, The Hearach, isn’t available yet, you can try their distinctive Isle of Harris Gin and take a tour of the distillery.

Stacks to do
The Outer Hebrides are full of history, heritage with scenery and surroundings that really take you back in time. Discover great attractions set amidst stunning seascapes including Kisimul Castle in Castlebay on Barra which is the only surviving medieval castle in the region. Or head to the Island of Great Bernera, where you can witness the stunning Bosta Iron Age House right on the sandy beach. This was part of the most completely preserved late-Iron Age village ever found in the country.

In Stornoway, the new Lews Castle Museum and Archive gives you a chance to see six of the world famous 12th century Lewis Chessmen back home on the island where they were found, as well as many other maritime stories of these isles.

DID YOU KNOW?
Take a boat trip to the Isle of Minguley and witness 100s of seals and thousands of puffins.

DON’T MISS...
- The opportunity to see Harris Tweed being woven by skilled local crafters.
- The delectable local produce – scallops, lobster, crab, lamb, beef and the delicious Stornoway black pudding.
- One of many themed tours, guided walks, and boat trips that will help you make the most out of your stay.

So save the date and come and celebrate Scotland’s Coasts and Waters in 2020!

Ancestral
Are you descended from a MacNeil or MacLeod? Then your ancestors could have come from the Outer Hebrides. Many other clans originated here, too, so visit Cò Leis Thu? in the Seallam! Visitor Centre on Harris, and see what their genealogical resources have to say about your family history.

Hebridean clan culture is alive and kicking today, as you’ll see at a Highland games in the Outer Hebrides. Head to South Uist in July for its games to see Highland dancing, piping, caber tossing and much more.

Arts and culture
Gaelic is a musical language as well as a spoken one, and it has one of the richest singing traditions in Europe. You can hear Gaelic singing and foot-stomping traditional music at one of the Outer Hebrides’ arts venues such as An Lanntair on Lewis or Taigh Chearsabhagh on North Uist.

The Hebridean Celtic Festival has quietly turned into one of the most special festivals in the country. Pop along to Lewis in July and soak up the magical atmosphere for yourself.

Head to Benbecula for the annual summer event, Eilean Dorcha Festival, for great bands, stunning scenery, and brilliant headline acts.

In September you can catch some culture at the Harris Arts Festival. You could take a workshop on... basket making or peg loom weaving, shop for local textiles, and enjoy drama by touring theatre companies and live music. If you’re a bookworm you’ll love the annual Hebridean Book Festival, the Faclan. Readers and world-class authors come together in an inspiring Hebridean setting for readings, screenings, performances and discussions.

Food & drink
Look in our natural larder and you’ll see smoked salmon, fresh shellfish and succulent beef and lamb on the shelves amongst many other foodie goodies. Go to the agricultural shows at Carloway or North Uist in August to try out some Hebridean produce for yourself.

Outdoor
Ready for the high-life? The Isle of Harris Mountain Festival in August is a week-long celebration of the mountains. You’ll find everything from guided walks around some truly magnificent scenery to guest speakers, outdoor sports sessions, powerboat tours and much more.

Run a half marathon in surroundings so beautiful that they’ll take your mind off the challenge. There are popular summer events on the islands of Lewis, Harris, Benbecula and Barra, with 10 k, 5 k and fun runs for younger or beginner runners.

DON’T MISS...
- Fèisean are local annual festivals, celebrating traditional music and culture. They happen throughout the Outer Hebrides, so it’s easy to catch one.
- Golfers will love the Lewis Golf Week in July, a seven-day extravaganza of golf activities including the Western Isles Open Amateur Championships for Men, Ladies and Juniors.
- Don’t miss the Hebridean Dark Skies Festival across Lewis on 8-21 February 2019. It will include stargazing events, talks and workshops by leading scientists, film screenings, live music, theatre, family events, and much more.
- The Cèolas Music Festival on South Uist which celebrates Gaelic life, tradition and history through classes, workshops and performances in fiddling, piping and singing.

The Outer Hebrides have a unique geography – they are dozens of islands strung out in a 100-mile long chain in the Atlantic. Their isolation is part of their charm, but with a little planning you’ll find it easy to get about.

With your own transport, you can explore the islands in your own time. Several of the main islands are linked by causeways, while Caledonian MacBrayne runs a comprehensive inter-island ferry service. There is also a good bus service throughout the Outer Hebrides and fares are inexpensive.

There are flights to the Outer Hebrides from Glasgow, Edinburgh and Inverness with Loganair and from Aberdeen with Flybe (operated by Eastern Airways).

By road/bus

Many island roads are single track, but you’ll find they are in good condition and are rarely busy. At the start of a journey, make sure you fill up as petrol stations are well spread out. You can get good rental deals from local car hire companies.

You can island-hop without leaving your car thanks to bridges to Scalpay and causeways to Berneray and Eriskay. There are ferry terminals at Stornoway and Leverburgh, and car ferries on the routes between Harris and the Uists, and from the mainland to Barra, Stornoway, Tarbert, Lochmaddy and Lochboisdale.

For further details about driving safely in Scotland, visit www.visitscotland.com/about/practical-information/driving-in-scotland/

You can hop on several bus services throughout Lewis and Harris, most running from Monday to Saturday. Services on the Uists, Benbecula and Eriskay focus on the main spinal route from Berneray to Balivanich through to Eriskay. Services are more frequent on Lewis and Harris and Barra has three bus routes.

For more bus information visit www.cne-siar.gov.uk/travel/busservice/index.asp

By ferry

Caledonian MacBrayне runs inter-island services with well-equipped car and passenger ferries between Leverburgh on Harris and Berneray on North Uist, between Lochboisdale on South Uist and Castlebay on Barra, and between Ardmhor on Barra and Eriskay.

You can make large savings with Caledonian MacBrayне’s special flexible ferry tickets. The Hopscotch® tickets are valid for one month and let you pick your own adventure by choosing from a selection of pre-planned routes. Visit www.calmac.co.uk or call 08000 665000.

By air

Ever landed at an airport that uses a beach for a runway? Probably not, because Barra has the only such airport in the world. Fly in here for a truly unique travel experience.

For details of inter-island Loganair flights, visit www.loganair.co.uk or call 0344 800 2855.

PRACTICAL INFORMATION
FIOSRACHADH FEUMAIL

The listings within this guide have been split into the following sections:
• Places to visit
• Leisure activities
• Shopping
• Food & drink
• Tours
• Transport
• Events & festivals
• Accommodation

Businesses within these sections are listed in alphabetical order by business location, then by business name. Each entry has a map reference (see example) relating to the map which appears at the back of this guide. The majority of entries will have a postcode which can be used to pin point exact locations. Where a business is listed as being ‘By’ a town or village it is wise to check the exact location before making your journey. Some listings may have a distance beside the location; this indicates the approximate road distance in miles from the main location. The mileages are voluntarily provided by the businesses themselves.

Display advertising is placed at the back of this guide and is also split into categories. Business listings who also have display advertising will have this icon •.
Pricing
Where prices of admission, services and facilities are included in the entries, these are based on information received from the advertisers. Please note that prices include VAT where applicable and are for your guidance only (VAT as at December 2016).

Smoking
Scotland’s indoor public places, including pubs, restaurants and cafés are smoke-free by law, creating a healthier and fresher environment for residents and visitors to our beautiful country.

Drinking and driving
Scotland’s drink drive limit is 50 mg (of alcohol per 100 ml of blood). The Scottish Government recommends the best approach is to have no alcohol at all, if you’re intending to get behind the wheel in Scotland. For more information, see www.dontriskit.info

Booking
Accepting accommodation by telephone or in writing means you have entered into a legally binding contract with the proprietor of the establishment. If you cancel or fail to turn up, for whatever reason, the proprietor has the right to ask you for compensation. You should always check the cancellation terms in advance and, if you must cancel a booking, advise the business immediately. Online bookings are also subject to terms and conditions, please check direct with the proprietor for these.

Short breaks
There is a fabulous range of accommodation throughout Scotland. Establishments purchasing advertising within this guide can opt to display the above symbol. Many establishments have offers throughout the year, contact direct for latest special offers.

Insurance and cancellations
Should you have to cancel for whatever reason, it is reassuring to know that you can be insured against any compensation claim. Please ensure you take our cancellation insurance prior to your trip.

Family fun
There is a wealth of things to see and do that will keep smiles on faces all day. Attractions and establishments which are particularly suitable for children have been highlighted within this guide. Please note that this icon is not verified by VisitScotland as businesses can opt to show this symbol.

Accessible and Assistance dogs
The Equalities Act 2010 and Disability Discrimination Act 1995 say that reasonable adjustments must be made in order to avoid discriminating against people with disabilities. These will range from creating an access route for a person with a wheelchair to waiving a “no dog’s policy” in order that a disabled person may be accompanied by their assistance dog. It is always advisable to check with each establishment prior to visiting/booking. A disabled person should not be put at a disadvantage. Please note that these icons are not verified by VisitScotland as businesses can opt to show these symbols.

Hearing loop
Induction loop and infrared systems are available within this establishment. Informative signs and symbols will be displayed such as the loop sign above; it is always worth asking if not obvious. Please note that this icon is not verified by VisitScotland as businesses can opt to show this symbol.

Dogs welcome
Dogs are welcome to this establishment, on the understanding that they are on their leash and are kept under control. You may have to check with each establishment whether they are restricted areas for your dog. Please note that this icon is not verified by VisitScotland as businesses can opt to show this symbol.

Refreshments available
Café or refreshments are available at this establishment. Please note that this icon is not verified by VisitScotland as businesses can opt to show this symbol.

WiFi available
Guest WiFi access is available at this establishment. Please note that this icon is not verified by VisitScotland as businesses can opt to show this symbol.

Gaelic
In this area some of the population speak the Gaelic language (as well as English), so if you wish to stay with Gaelic speakers please look out for the symbol within listings and ask when you book your accommodation to confirm that this is available. The Gaelic language is rich in tradition, history, music and culture, and will add an interesting dimension and unique sense of place to your holiday. Please note that this icon is not verified by VisitScotland as businesses can opt to show this symbol.

Hebridean Jewellery are manufacturers of sterling silver and gold jewellery inspired by the work of the ancient Picts and Celts through to the present environment.

This finely crafted jewellery has wide appeal from neck torcs through to brooches or delicate earrings with some inset with various gemstones. We also make Celtic wedding band rings, unique necklaces, gold pendants and bracelets.

The jewellery is hand crafted in the workshop in the township of Iochdar where we have a good coffee shop serving light snacks by the silver strands of the North West coast on the Isle of South Uist.

Hotel Hebrides is a four star award winning boutique hotel in the Outer Hebrides. We have 21 high quality contemporary bedrooms which offer a number of carefully considered touches. These include free high speed Internet access, luxury Highland Soap Co products, pocket sprung mattresses and sumptuous thick bath robes.

The Pierhouse Seafood Restaurant at Hotel Hebrides has become a highlight of the Outer Hebridean experience and we pride ourselves in sourcing the finest fresh local seafood, from hand dived West Harris Scallops to South Harris Lobster. Our restaurant overlooks the harbour and we offer a creative modern menu with light and healthy options where gluten free, vegetarian and vegan diets are well catered for. We are open every day for breakfast, lunch and dinner.

It is widely regarded that at the heart of a good hotel lies a great bar and Hotel Hebrides will not disappoint. The Mote Lounge Bar offers a great selection of Scotch whisky, delectable fresh rustic bar food and a brilliant buzz. There is also regular live music.
